Attending	MOTHER AND SERVICE PROVIDER WORKSHOPS: MORNING SESSIONS (11:00-12:15)
	7 Steps Of Sisterhood Empowerment Principals For Life – Paves the way to help mothers raising teenage boys. A seven step approach to Motherhood is provided to help women recognize their inner strength and prepare for challenges that lie ahead in raising their sons to become men. Denise Baskerville is the Author of 7 Steps To Sisterhood, a mother of two boys and 3 girls, grandmother and Parent Support Specialist.
	Empowered Living For Single Mothers – Being a Single mother is the hardest job in the world. Single moms have to be “Super Women” at the job, home, school and community. Quite often their needs and desires go unnoticed and unfulfilled due to circumstances that may be out of their control. This workshop is designed to provide strategies to empower single mothers to enjoy their lives. Cassandra Mack is the Author of Little Book of Wisdom for Single Moms and President of Strategies For Empowered Living.
	Discovering Your Sons Talents – Quite often young men wonder through life not knowing what they want to do. It is here were the old adage “ the idle mind is the devil’s work place ” takes effect. To overcome this concern we recommend that mothers help their sons recognize their special talent, and design strategies to support them. Ms. Jacqueline Jenkins Is a Certified Life Coach, and President of SkillRise, LLC.
	What Ever Happened To Black Love – This workshop is provided for mothers and service providers and will focus on the design of Strategies to eliminate black male violence, thuggery, gang warfare, beefs, and terrorism in the black community. Dennis Rahim Watson is the Chairmen of the National Task Force on Black Male Violence, Gangs and Achievement
	Managing Success: Strategies for Public School Administrators – This workshop will concentrate on helping Vice Principals, Supervisors and School administrators in managing programs and activities designed to support male students. Information will be shared on how to raise funds, write reports and report information. Dr. Vincent Mays is the Director of Alternative Education for the Newark Public Schools
	The Social Entrepreneur Workshop – Have you once contemplated starting your own business which focuses on providing social services? If the answer to this questions is yes, then this is the workshop for you! This workshop will concentrate on four areas: 1. Concept branding; 2. Strategic Planning; 3. Leaving your 9 to 5; 4. Creating income and generating activities. David Miller is the Co-founder of The Urban Leadership Institute, one of the most successful social enterprises in the United States.
	A Brother Empowering Brothers – Utilizing current national achievement data and the research and practice of the Male Development and Empowerment Center at Medgar Evers College, this workshop outlines a clear, cohesive set of strategies and “building blocks” to working with urban males. Rodney Fuller is the Director of The Male Empowerment Center at Medgar Evers College.

	MOTHER AND SERVICE PROVIDER AFTERNOON SESSIONS (1:30-2:30)
	Write A Book About It: How To Publish Your Ideas – This workshop will help teachers, service providers and educators understand the process of self publishing a book. Contemporary Publishing Services is a full service organization that specializes in book publishing.
	How To Teach Boys Effectively - Boys and girls learn, play, and express themselves differently. Teachers should not only understand these differences but also be able to help young men maximize their emotional, academic and personal potential. Ronald Orr is the Vice Principal in the Newark Public Schools and a specialist in youth development and learning.
	What can service providers do to improve service delivery to boys - The presentation will require that service providers take a look at what works and what does not work in their respective organizations. They may leave the presentation with greater clarity as to how to effectively deliver services that meet the needs of their clients. Mr. Bernard Gassaway is a national recognized author and expert in educating Male Students.
	Engaging & Empowering Fathers – This interactive session will teach service providers success strategies for engaging fathers in their programs from strengthening an existing fatherhood program to launching a new one. Participants will share and discover best practices and lessons learned in the areas of program development, strategic partnerships, outreach and outcomes. Shawn Dove is the Founder & Publisher of Proud Poppa, a community empowerment publication created to celebrate fatherhood success in the Black community.
	How To Mentor Boys – Mentoring boys and helping them ease into the transition of manhood is a time honored position. This workshop will teach mentors (men and women) how to effectively mentor young men using proven mentor techniques. Cedric Ashley is the Executive Director for Big Brothers and Big Sisters of America Greater Newark Area
